Certifications and Licenses

Coding and Web Development

May 2022 to Present

I am currently taking a certification bootcamp through UNC Chapel Hill for web development. We have gone over HTML, CSS, JavaScript, & API integration, and we are currently learning node and SQL. Upon completing this course in November, I will have a basic understanding of being a full stack web developer, and I plan to further my knowledge with additional courses and classes as well as in my next job.
